Visit My Garden • • • • •

YOU are cordially invited to visit my garden during the blooming season, or at any time. My Iris Garden is conducted largely for the happiness that it brings to my friends.

IF you do not have a hobby, try Iris. When in need of a little mental relaxation also, try going out in the garden among the growing, gorgeous, gay blooming, delightfully fragrant Iris. Plant them, weed them, cross pollinate, collect and plant the seed, then watch and wait for results. You will be abundantly repaid.

IF you will plant a few well-chosen varieties of good Irises, you will admire and appreciate their wonderful range of color, perfection of form, decorative uses, pleasing fragrance, and constant companionship through years to come. I am aware that flower lovers desire the best they can get and that they want a large list to choose from. I wish to inform everyone that I have listed in this catalog nearly all varieties of merit.

MY collection represents one of the largest and finest. If you are interested in any varieties not listed, I will welcome your correspondence about them. There are none better and the values I offer cannot be surpassed. I take pride in presenting this list and I am most happy to offer the foremost varieties at moderate prices. I am sure that these outstanding varieties at the prices quoted set a new standard of value. I fully guarantee my stock to be the best. When you order from my catalog, you can be sure of getting the finest quality at reasonable prices.

The Perennials of Unusual Blendings of Color and Beauty

Irises are undoubtedly one of the most popular of all the hardy perennials. No other perennial plant available to my gardens combines so many good qualities. They are inexpensive, extremely hardy, may be grown under a great variety of conditions with a minimum amount of care, and they have a wonderful range of colors from the lightest pale yellow to rich gold and deep bronze, delicate pale blues, and lavenders to dark blue and violet to deepest purple, light pink to claret and deep maroon, all the shades of lavender, mauve, violet and pure white, with an endless array of combination colors. Now more than ever, the flower justifies its name, Iris, "The Rainbow."

I believe that I am perfectly safe in saying that there is no flower presenting such a wonderful variety of coloring as the Iris. We often hear the expression, "It rivals the Orchid." I claim that it excels the Orchid. They are as easy as weeds to grow, in fact, will submit to more abuse than most weeds. I have seen them thrown on top of a hill in September and remain there until the following June without any protection, and then flower. (The above is merely to show its hardiness.) They seem to succeed over a greater range of territory than any other plant, withstanding the cold of Canada and the heat of Mexico.

Irises are of easy culture, and can be planted almost any time the ground is not frozen—they will do best in a sunny, well-drained location in a medium loose, mellow soil. Irises must be planted shallow; many people plant too deep—the plants rot. The Rhizome or fleshy part of the root should be just under the surface of the ground. If your location is a low spot where water will stand, it is advisable to make raised beds, so the water cannot stand around the roots. Good drainage is necessary. If the soil is sour, an application of hydrated lime is advisable. Never use manure or leaves, as they are likely to cause rot.

A Few Remarks About Iris Rot

The development of root rot in bearded Iris is a condition that at times all Iris growers have to contend with. Some of the causes of this condition are too deep planting of the rhizomes, especially early in the spring, water standing around the plants, hot and humid atmosphere, abnormal cold weather in winter without any snow protection.

The two main pests of German Iris are borer and rot, the rot usually getting in after borers have injured the roots. Borers hatch from eggs laid by a little moth on the leaves. The tiny borer bores into the leaf near the top and eats its way leisurely downward until it is fully grown by the time it reaches the rhizome. If you watch for it, you can head it off by squeezing or cutting off and destroying the leaf.

The Remedy ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹ ☹

Make raised beds or ridges, so water cannot stand around the plants, plant very shallow—the top of the rhizome should be at the surface of the ground. Next, if rot should develop, scrape the soil from around the rhizome, clean out the rotted parts, sprinkle with powdered sulphur, let the sun shine on the rhizome and you will soon be rid of rot.

A light covering of straw or coarse hay put on after the ground freezes will help to carry your plants safely through the winter.

Color Explanation and Abbreviations

A “self” is an Iris whose standards and falls are of practically the same color.

A “bicolor” is an Iris whose standards differ in color from the falls.

A “plicata” is an Iris whose petals are sanded, veined or otherwise marked with a color darker than the ground color.

A “variegata” is an Iris with standards of yellow, gold or orange and falls heavily veined a darker color or completely of a darker color.

An “amoena” is an Iris with white standards and colored falls, sometimes veined or margined white.

In the descriptions, S. and F. have been used as abbreviations for standards and falls.

The following abbreviations used in noting awards refer to different societies: A. I. S., American Iris Society; B. I. S., British Iris Society; M. H. S., Massachusetts Horticultural Society; R. H. S., Royal Horticultural Society, England; S. N. H. F., Societe Nationale d'Horticulture de France.

Terms and Condition of Sale

ORDER as early in the season as possible to insure delivery, as we are often sold out of choice stock by the end of the season. Orders will be filled in rotation and the first receive the choice of stock.

Acknowledgment will be made promptly by us, stating the amount of your order and when it will be sent you.

Terms are cash with order. Remittance should be made by check or postal money order.

Substitutions in your order will not be made unless you so indicate.

Good, strong rhizomes, unexcelled in quality, with a fine root system, will be sent, properly labeled and packed, insuring their starting into vigorous growth when planted. Shipments will be made from about June 25th to November 1st, as customers desire.

All varieties are true to name. Satisfactory adjustment will be made on any proving otherwise.

Transportation charges on all Irises purchased from this catalog will be prepaid by us anywhere in the United States.

Join the American Iris Society

Every gardener interested in Iris should join that company of flower enthusiasts comprising the American Iris Society. Annual dues $3.00, which includes four quarterly bulletins—these alone being worth the $3.00.
